

AUDIO/VIDEO COMPONENT NETWORKING SYSTEM AND METHOD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An audio/video (A/V) component networking system comprises a source component, a presentation device, and a sink component. The sink component is adapted to control presentation of A/V program data received from the source component on the presentation device. The sink component is also adapted to transmit a command to the source component to control display of an A/V menu data stream on the presentation device.